A SUPREME COURT SCENE.

A GOOD-NATURED MAN TRIES TO MAKE SOME FUN AFTER "THE HEAVY DOGS WERE THROUGH."

[From the St. Paul (Minn.), Press, Oct. 30.]

On Wednesday the railway case of Edmund Rice, et al., trustees vs. the St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Company was argued in the Supreme Court, a number of the most eminent members of the Bar in this city appearing as counsel. The arguments were strong and able, occupying the attention of the Judges until the hour for adjournment had arrived. When they had been concluded the counsel engaged commenced putting on their overcoats, and while so employed a [illegible] ex-State official entered the room, and, judging from the movements of the attorneys that the day's [illegible] had been fully concluded and the Court adjourned, thought he would play attorney for the amusement of the Judges still occupying their positions on the Bench. He walked boldly up to the front of the stand, and then struck an attitude of great dignity, and impressively [illegible] all the [illegible] case look upon him [illegible] While the lawyers [illegible] riveted to the spot for an instant, the effect upon the Judges was equally marked. Judge Berry [illegible] to comprehend the situation at a glance, but managed to [illegible] his dignity, while an active smile lurked in his eye. Judge McMillan failed to exercise [illegible] control over his impulses, and bent his head low on his desk, while his body grew tremulous with suppressed laughter. Judge Young, who was not [illegible] acquainted with the innocent [illegible] of this judicial sensation, gazed upon the ex-official with unfeigned astonishment. In short, everything and everybody in the court room appeared to come to a [illegible] awaiting for the next movement. The ex-official was still in ignorance of the fact that the court was yet in session, and consequently proceeded with his little [illegible] for the amusement of the Court after its day of more than usually arduous labor. Swelling out his chest and looking like the concentrated essence of dignity, the gentleman commenced his maiden address before the highest judicial tribunal of the State in the following words:

"May it please the Court: Can a common man be admitted to address you, now that these heavy dogs are all through?"

He then looked from the Judges to the counsel and spectators for some explanation of the peculiar expression upon the features of all, and the truth flashed upon him in an instant. Before either of the Judges could respond to his proposition, he had seized his hat, which had been deposited upon the table, with a manner and air not often witnessed in this latitude, and the patter of his heels was heard in rapid movement as he proceeded down the stairs and away from the scene of his discomfiture.

[illegible] DREAD SUMMONS.

SAD SCENE IN AN EAST WASHINGTON CHURCH—A MINISTER DROPS DEAD IN THE PULPIT—HIS LAST WORDS, "JESUS SAVE ME, SAVE ME NOW."

A scene was enacted yesterday during the services at the Methodist Episcopal Mission Church, on Twelfth street, east, near Pennsylvania avenue, which will never be forgotten by the witnesses thereto.

The church was thronged as usual for the morning service, which commenced at 11 o'clock, and when the pastor, Rev. Milton E. Hysore, entered the pulpit he announced to the congregation that he was suffering very [illegible] with [illegible] of the throat, but proceeded at once with his sermon on the subject, "Word of Life." He was about half through his discourse when he suddenly remarked, "Brethren, I feel very sick," and, clapping his right hand to his forehead, as if in intense pain, exclaimed, "Jesus save me, save me now," at the same time staggering backward and falling in a half-reclining position on a sofa. Many in the audience rushed forward to his aid, foremost among whom was his wife, who, lifting his head to her shoulder, asked, "Mr. Hysore, do you feel sick?" when he replied, "Yes," and sank back unconscious immediately. His teeth became clenched, and, after dreadful muscular contortions, he breathed his last.

Drs. J. L. Adams and S. A. H. McKim were sent for at once, and, upon their arrival pronounced congestion of the brain the cause of death.

As soon as quiet had been restored and the sad affair understood by the congregation, he was carried on a stretcher to his late home, on Tenth street, between G and I south-east, where the body was placed in ice to await the arrangements for burial.

Deceased was formerly a minister of the Methodist Protestant Church, and this was his first charge in the Methodist Episcopal ministry, and was not only beloved by his congregation, but by all who knew him. He was a native of Baltimore, was 37 years old, and leaves a wife and one child.—Washington Chronicle, Nov. 9th.

MIRACLES MADE [illegible].

The case of Louise Lateau, the fasting girl of Bois d'Haine, is creating great excitement in Germany, and some of the Rhine provinces are in such a ferment that the matter was [illegible] of sufficient gravity for discussion at the meeting of German naturalists held recently at Breslau. Louise Lateau is a girl who in her childhood showed extraordinary zeal in the [illegible] religious duties. In 1866 she became subject to ecstasies, and two years after stigmata, that is, marks representing the wounds of Christ, made their appearance upon her body, and bled on Fridays. During the last three years it is alleged that she has only eaten a wafer daily and drunk [illegible] of water weekly. Prof. Virchow, the eminent physician and savant, who has treated similar [illegible] of [illegible], is about to take the girl into his institution, although, as he says, "it has given him the greatest trouble, even perfectly organized as his hospital is, to trace out the tricks and shifts to which such persons as Louise Lateau resort." The professor undertakes the investigation of the case at the request of the [illegible] newspapers, which regard it as a miracle. Meanwhile a new [illegible] is growing out of the following advertisement inserted by a Roman Catholic in the Breslau Morgen Zeitung:

Grown-up girls who wish to be stigmatized or to be instructed in the art of stigmatizing others, may confidentially communicate to [illegible] Schleker, midwife, 20 Corn street. Humane treatment. Cheap prices. Absolute secrecy guaranteed.

It will be remembered that a case of this kind happened in California [illegible] over which there was much noise. Though the physicians declared it was a miracle, and the people believed it, and investigation resulted in the exposure of the imposture.

TALES OF THE STREET.—"Do you see the light in that hotel window?" said a beautiful but sad-looking girl to a gentleman about entering the Langham the other evening. "It was there," she added, "that I was ruined by a Scotch nobleman, who is the father of my two children, and now I am a midnight wanderer of the streets in search of bread. I have not a half [illegible] in the world. I cannot walk to my room in St. John's Wood. Pray give me a little money to pay the omnibus fare. It is midnight, and they will soon stop running." This is but one of tens of thousands of the same tales of the London streets. Cannot something be done for these poor victims? Or must all the [illegible] of Christian charity be expended on the happy heathen of Borrioboo-gha.

HINT TO COMMERCIAL EDITORS.—The commercial editor of the Port Royal Standard re[illegible] "The centennial market in Beaufort [illegible] lively, and [illegible] in [illegible] demand. The Town Clerk has returned with a sample from a Northern mart, and we hear that an attache of the Marine and River and Mining Manufacturing Company will shortly go North to lay in a stock to last him a lifetime. There are a few others, however, in Beaufort waiting until mothers-in-law get cheaper."

THE CENTENNIAL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Shall the natural wealth and industrial resources of Oregon be properly represented at the coming Centennial Exhibition, to be held in Philadelphia in 1876? This question, Mr. Editor, not only appeals to our State pride and national patriotism, but it is one of vital importance to the financial interests and future development of our entire State.

It is plain to the most casual observer that Oregon only lacks capital and people to develop into one of the most wealthy of States and most desirable localities for a home; and the great question for us to solve is, how can we most successfully induce capital to be invested, and immigration to come and settle among us.

It has been advocated by many, and in fact become a popular theory with most of us, that a State Board of Immigration should be organized and an appropriation be made by the Legislature [illegible] but still it is doubtful whether even such a course would have as great an influence to induce men with means to come and settle among us as a practical demonstration of the quality of our soil, timber land, mines and fisheries, by placing them on exhibition at this coming Great National and World's Fair.

It is true that the publication and distribution of pamphlets and circulars in the old countries might influence a floating population, who have nothing to lose and everything to gain, to try their luck among us, but let us once demonstrate to the solid capitalists of the Old World the productiveness of our soil by a display of our grasses, grains, fruits and vegetables; the value of our iron, copper, silver, gold and lead mines, and the capacity of our coal fields; our beautiful textiles and woolen fabrics; the extent of our growing and pasture lands; specimens of our useful timber and manufactories from our ornamental wood; the products of our fisheries—in fact, a fair representation by specimen of the varied resources of our real wealth, and we shall not be long wanting in capital to build our railroads and manufactories and develop our mines, or in intelligent agriculturists to settle on our unoccupied arable lands.

This opportunity will present itself at the approaching Centennial Celebration and World's Exposition, to be held in Philadelphia from April 19th to Oct. 19, 1876. And we ask again, Shall the resources of our State be properly represented? The preliminary steps for organizing this great movement have recently been taken, but can only be made a creditable success to our State by a thorough organization in all our towns and counties, and the co-operation of our entire people. This work will necessitate the expenditure of time and money, and like most great enterprises in our State will have to be carried out by the private contributions and personal efforts of our citizens. It will be worse than useless for a few to attempt this great work unless they have the hearty support and co-operation of a majority of our people. Will our public journals give the subject their support, or shall this glorious opportunity to place before the whole world the real wealth of our State go by default, while a like opportunity will not again occur till the close of another century?

JOURNALISM DECIDED TO BE A PROFESSION.

A Washington special to the Boston Journal reports the following interesting decision:

The Secretary of the Treasury, in a decision rendered yesterday, has given the profession of journalism a new distinction. He has recognized it as one of the learned professions, to be ranked, at least so far as classification in the tariff law goes, with medicine, jurisprudence and theology. An American journalist, who was returning from Europe, bringing with him a considerable quantity of books, amounting in value to several hundred dollars, for use in his own library, claimed that the books were entitled to be entered duty free, as a portion of his professional journal library. He bases his application upon that section in the customs laws which make provision for the free importation of books for the use of a library of a physician, a lawyer and a clergyman. The custom-house officers of Baltimore, at which port the books were imported, decided that journalism is not a profession, and that these books could not be imported under that provision. An appeal was taken to the Secretary of the Treasury, who has decided that journalism is a profession to such an extent as will give a journalist the advantages of this provision of the law.

A COLORED MAN'S FUNERAL.—The funeral procession of Thomas Swan, (colored) Sunday, was one of the largest ever seen in Memphis. It was over one mile in length, and contained at least 2,500 persons, in carriages and on foot. Swan was the President of the Pole Bearers, the largest organization of blacks in the city, and a member of the Sons of [illegible] and Sons of Zion, all, three of which turned out in full force. A colored band preceded the procession, after which came the Sons of Ham, then another brass band and the Pole Bearers, nearly 1,000 strong. The hearse, drawn by four iron gray horses came next. The casket was a fine metalic one. A guard of honor of the Pole Bearers walked by the side of the hearse, which was followed by the [illegible] that Swan drove while living, the harness and trappings of which were entwined with black. Two of the Pole Bearers led the horse. Two carriages containing Swan's family followed, and then came footmen in citizens' dress, about 500 in number. They were followed by a line of hacks and carriages fully half a mile in length, which closed the procession.—Memphis Avalanche.

A. T. STEWART'S MISTAKEN BENEVOLENCE.—Some years ago A. T. Stewart, of New York, began the erection of a very large building on Fourth avenue in that city, intending to make it a sort of home or cheap boarding house for working women. It was the first benevolent scheme he had ever undertaken, and was a pet idea of his. Some months ago work on the building was stopped, to the surprise of everybody, since Stewart was known to have plenty of money. It is now said that he has discovered the plan to be impracticable, for working women would not enter it under such restrictions as are necessary. He tried to induce the women in his retail establishment to agree to go there when the building should be completed, and they flatly refused. He is reported to feel bitterly disappointed at the result, because the home was a benevolent scheme he had long cherished, and besides he does not know what to do with the splendid and costly structure.

NOVEL ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE.—At 9:15 o'clock yesterday morning John Casey, aged 35, living at No. 131 West 127th street, attempted suicide in the lumber yard at the corner of Eleventh avenue and Twenty-first street, where he was employed, by staying in the top of his head with a brick. When discovered he had already inflicted several blows, and was very weak from the loss of blood. An officer of the Sixteenth precinct was summoned, who took Casey to Dr. McLeod, who found a severe scalp wound, and advised his immediate removal to Bellevue Hospital, where he was subsequently taken in an ambulance. It is feared that the wound will prove fatal. Pecuniary embarrassment, it is said, prompted Casey to attempt to take his life.—N. Y. [illegible], Nov. 11th.

NATIONAL GATHERING OF KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.—New Orleans, Nov. 10.—Immense preparations are being made here for the reception of the Knights Templar of the Union to attend the Convocation of the Order, December 1st. From 7,000 to 10,000 Templars are expected. The fraternity are very enthusiastic, and ample preparations are being made to accommodate all who desire to come.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

A heavy Chinese vote at Clinton elected Humphreys and Brown to the Provincial Assembly from Lillooet.

There are now only four miners working on French and McCulloch creeks, who make about five dollars per day each [illegible].

The wire for the Kamloops section has reached Yale. The holes are all dug and the poles ready for raising along the line.

The steamer Emma, towing the schooner Black Diamond, started from Nanaimo on Thursday night, but was glad to put back to escape the high wind.

The scow Isabella, while loading cordwood at Telegraph Bay, on Tuesday, was blown ashore by the northeaster. She is not supposed to have sustained any damage.

The ship Blue Jacket completed her cargo of 2,000 tons of coal at the Wellington colliery, Departure Bay. This is the largest cargo yet shipped by this enterprising Company.

Mr. T. S. Styles, of Kinsman & Styles, contractors for the Dominion Penitentiary, will immediate commence [illegible] at the [illegible] castle Quarry. About 2,000 tons of stone will be required.

The Colonist of the 18th says: "The present cold snap is quite unprecedented here as far as the experience of the white inhabitants extends. The weather must be very severe on the Mainland along the line of the [illegible]."

On Friday and Saturday of last week, the miners engaged in opening up the new tunnel at the Harewood mine struck some excellent coal and have prospected it to a depth of over five feet. The entire thickness of the seam has not yet been discovered, but the indications are that a good and permanent seam has been struck.

The Cariboo Sentinel, in noticing the ceremony of erecting at Kamloops the first pole of the Canadian Pacific Telegraph, remarks: "We are informed that in consequence of the new terms reported in last Victoria papers as about to be proposed by Mr. Mackenzie, the contractor has received orders merely to connect Kamloops with the present British Columbia telegraph system."

Mr. Hughes, the light keeper at Cape Beale, writes under date of Nov. 7th, of a very severe storm of wind, rain and hail from the south-east [illegible] by thunder and lightning, which broke over the Cape on the night previous to [illegible] 10:30 P. M. Trees were uprooted and the surf dashed high against the rock on which the lighthouse stands. During the months of July, August, September and October, 52 vessels approached within ten miles of the Cape.

We dislike to find fault with any man's religious scruples, but the following from Archdeacon Woods, of New Westminster, is pretty rough on about nine-tenths of the people who think they are married. He says: "I should question the validity of a marriage celebrated by me in a private house, unless in cases of absolute necessity, and I should, under all circumstances, question the validity of such marriage celebrated at any hour than between eight and twelve in the forenoon."

In receiving, at the hands of the jury, the verdict of "Guilty" against the [illegible] Indians tried for murder last week, Judge Crease, of Nanaimo, remarked: "I cannot see how [illegible] twelve sensible men could, according to the evidence, bring in any other verdict." And yet, after pronouncing the dread sentence of death, he stated that he would suggest to the authorities at Ottawa the advisability of commuting the sentence to penal servitude for an [illegible] period. Some people experience difficulty in reconciling this and that.

Private letters from Hope state that Mr. James Allison, while driving 250 head of beef cattle intended for the Victoria market, across Hope mountains, was caught in a violent snowstorm and had to turn back. The band had difficulty in reaching the valley, and an Indian drover was killed by a branch which fell from one of the trees. Stock driving across Hope mountain may be considered at an end for this year. Mr. Clapperton's band of cattle from Nicola valley, which are now in town, crossed the mountain only three days in advance of Allison's band.

H. Doane, just down from the Big Bend country, brings some very encouraging information touching the existence of good paying quartz leads in that district. He says he found gold quartz which will pay $1,000 and upwards to the ton and silver in the true fissure lode form, which will pay not less than $600 to the ton. He has also visited Cherry creek, of silver mine repute. It would appear that the persons employed by the Government to explore Cherry creek declared that there was no well defined lode in that vicinity. This theory has been completely exploded by Mr. Doane, who found a clearly defined vein which he traced for four miles, and says if he had that vein in Nevada he could sell it without discussion for a million dollars. Mr. D. has a very high opinion of the Selkirk range, and believes that before long very extensive mining operations will be carried on there.

POLITICAL NOTES.

A correspondent of the Boston Herald nominates General N. P. Banks for the Presidency in 1876.

The Massachusetts Legislature will have a Republican majority of 72—8 in the Senate, and 64 in the House of Representatives.

Alex. G. Cochran, of Pennsylvania, will probably be the junior member of the next House of Representatives. He is less than 30 years of age.

A Democratic Legislature in Pennsylvania can do nothing violent, for Gov. Hartranft holds the veto power, and only a two-thirds majority can override it.

It is understood that the friends of Col. Jos. [illegible] Barr, editor of the [illegible] will present his claims for the position of United States Senator, representing the western part of the State of Pennsylvania.

Col. Mosby, according to the Washington correspondent of the Boston Post, had a long interview with the President and Secretary of the Treasury, last Friday, which resulted in the appointment of two of his friends to Departmental clerkships.

The Illinois Legislature stands: Senate—Republicans, 25; Democrats, 23; Independents, 3. Opposition majority, 1. House—Republicans, 67; Democrats, 64; Independents, 22. Opposition majority, 19. Opposition majority on joint ballot, 20.

That "tidal wave" that was to have swept the country after Greeley was nominated for President has been held in check just two years. It has now passed over, leaving in its track many a political wreck. It was not such an overwhelming affair as was predicted by Greeley's friends, but enough to give the Republican party a good washing out, and that was needed.—Chicago Journal (Rep.)

Everybody has a good word for William Walter Phelps, just defeated for Congress in the 5th New Jersey District. Mr. Phelps served but one term in Congress. He made a first-class member. He was honest, a hard worker, witty in speech, strong in argument, and did both his State and country good service. But he went under. The just have suffered from time immemorial with the unjust.—Cincinnati Gazette, (Rep.)

ENTERING A CHURCH ON DONKEYS.—On the evening of October 8th, some young men wearing the uniform of the National Guard, who had ascended Monte Pevo, near Rome, on donkeys, endeavored to enter the church there mounted as they were. A disturbance arose between them and the sacristan, who was aided by some persons who happened to be in the church. The police intervened, but on the arraignment of two of the young men before the Police Court in Rome on the following morning, the public prosecutor disregarded the accusation which had been brought [illegible] of having insulted the cause of religion, and the accused were sentenced to five days' imprisonment for having abused their uniforms.

OREGON.

Mrs. R. Clawson, a quaker lady, preached at Salem last Sunday.

The Good Templars' Lodges at La Grande are progressing finely.

The Hesperian, Philosophian and Vesperian Societies at Dallas, are all flourishing [illegible].

The woolen mills at Salem will be closed for repairs and improvement during December.

The bridge across McKenzie's Fork, in Lane county, has been completed. [illegible]

A one-third interest in a grist-mill in Clackamas county was sold the other day for $150.

The Universalist Church at Cove is said to be the finest Church building in Union county.

Water was turned out of the Eagle Canal Company's ditch, at Sparta, on the first of this month.

Rev. P. S. Knight will preach the Union Thanksgiving sermon at Salem, in the Presbyterian church.

The [illegible] of [illegible] county, have a fine hall, for their meetings, [illegible] ready for occupancy.

Mr. Shortridge, of Lane county, raised some oats last year [illegible] half, or 50 pounds, to the bushel.

Coquille City on the 5th inst., writes a correspondent, was out of soap, not a bar to be had in the place for love or money.

A gold bar which weighed 402½ ounces, and valued at $8,000, was the [illegible] of sixty days' run of the Virtue Mill in Baker county.

The roads are now so bad that stages have been withdrawn between Roseburg and Coos City. Travel will now be confined mostly to horseback.

The late rains will make the ground just a little too soft for the farmers of this valley. Plowing is stopped on all except high and rolling lands.

Parties at Marshfield, possessing ample means, are taking the initiatory steps towards building a scow steamer for freighting purposes on Coos Bay.

Since the recent rains and light snow the hills around Pendleton begin to show a very perceptible green tinge. In some favored nooks the grass is two or three inches high.

Judge Prim, of Jackson county, will shortly move his family to Salem to enable his children to avail themselves of the superior educational facilities to be found at the Capital city.

There is a gold mine near Deer Lodge City, Montana Territory, called the Beecher-Tilton Lode. It is a new diggings, and if it proves as rich as the original, the stock will be sought [illegible].

A large lake has been lately discovered at the head of East Deschutes river, in Southeastern Oregon, by John Blair and Andrew Foster, formerly of Benton county. They named it Bear Lake.

The grand jury of Jackson county, at the late term of the Circuit Court, returned three true bills of indictment, to-wit: One for murder, one for malicious injury to animals, and one for larceny.

The La Grande Sentinel, of last Saturday, says a man, whose name is not given, got lost on [illegible] Creek, [illegible] county, several days ago, and it is feared he has perished. He was a resident of Forest Cove.

Some few nights since Mr. Thos. Smith, of Auburn, Baker county, met with a very severe loss by fire, by having his winter supply of hay, about forty tons, burned up. Some villain, through malicious motives, set fire to the hay.

The second half of first term of this academic year, for Christian College, began last Monday. Though not quite so flourishing as at this time last year, yet she will compare favorably with any of the numerous colleges in Oregon.

A friend writing from Eldorado, Baker county, under date of Nov. 15, says: "There is no [illegible] here, and the weather fine; and more [illegible] in the Burnt river ditch than any time since it was dug, and the miners all at work and [illegible] well."

Mr. Jerome [illegible] pain, of Pendleton, has, we learn, lately [illegible] from his brother Benjamin, [illegible] Marysville, California, [illegible] men and horses all doing well: so he and they cannot be the party from Umatilla county, reported murdered and scalped near Chico.

A prominent citizen of Lane county, who is supposed to be wealthy, was arrested a short time since on a charge of perjury and bound over for his appearance at the next term of Circuit Court in the sum of $1,000. The crime charged is that he made a false return to the Assessor of his taxable property.

White & Co., of Connor Creek, Baker county, after a few days' run with their mill, cleaned up two thousand four hundred dollars. This, we believe, was the first clean up from their mill since it was removed to and put up at Connor Creek, and the result obtained is very flattering for the future success of the mine belonging to Messrs. White, Estabrook, Glover & Co.

On last Sunday the funeral of John, son of Mr. R. Imbrie, of Washington county, took place. Among those who attended was Mr. Garrison, one of the neighbors. He went away from home carelessly leaving $360 in coin in his house. During his absence [illegible] was broken into and the money taken. The loss is quite a heavy one on Mr. Garrison as he intended using the money the next day.

The Jacksonville Times of last Saturday says: "The freight season may be said to have nearly closed. A few teams may run all winter, but as a general thing all the merchants have received their winter's supply of goods. The late rains have placed the roads in a rather muddy condition, and freight charges between Roseburg and Jacksonville have raised a half cent per pound. The amount of freight received by various parties this fall is very [illegible]."

The people of Oregon appear to be more fully awake than ever before upon the subject of doing something to help themselves, and to rise to a position of independence. Mills, manufactories, machine shops, agricultural works and other enterprises are constantly springing up all over the State, and scarcely an exchange comes to our table that does not speak of some new project being set on foot, or renewed action in schemes that have previously been undertaken. The people of Oregon are beginning to fully realize that a people who do not make a home trade and a home market are apt to find themselves oftener without either.

Summer Lake Valley, in the southeastern part of the State, raises turnips that measured fifty inches in circumference—the weight is [illegible]. Mrs. [illegible] raised potatoes in her garden that weighed 4 pounds. Mr. [illegible], formerly of Benton county, raised a small field of barley as an experiment that grew to the height of three or four feet, and which, had it been threshed, would in all probability have yielded sixty bushels per acre. Mr. Hamilton, living at the upper end of the valley, planted a small field of wheat, which done as well as could be desired. The soil is sandy and gravelly, mixed pretty well with alkali, and must be watered occasionally in order to produce rich vegetation.

The Benton Democrat says that Corvallis already begins to feel the beneficial effects of the contemplated railroad from that point to Yaquina Bay. The effect manifests itself in the increased activity of the real estate market, and in advanced prices of all kinds of property. The belief that Corvallis is soon to be connected by railroad with the ocean, is drawing men of means to that part of Oregon, for the purpose of business or speculation. [illegible] there is not a vacant house in the town; and the demand for farms to rent or purchase is very great, and is rapidly increasing. With the benefits already secured, and the benefits still to accrue, which are certain and sure, every one should be willing to assist, to the best of his ability, to have the road completed as soon as possible.

Sufficient official returns have been received from Arkansas to render certain the election of the entire Democratic Congressional ticket.

THE TERRITORIES.

Vancouver will levy a tax of about 5 mills on the dollar for city purposes.

The wife of Dr. Waldref, of Silver City, Idaho, has fallen heir to $100,000, left her by an aunt in New York.

There are about 100 patents in the Olympia Land Office awaiting owners. Send and get your patent to your land.

One-tenth of the wages of the employes in the woolen mills at Beaver, Utah, is invariably kept as tithing to support the devilish Mormon priesthood.

The church recently organized on Spring Creek in Klickitat county, W. T., with fifteen members, is getting along finely. They have also organized a Sunday School.

Tacoma is said to be again improving and matters look rather encouraging [illegible] though a resident of that place informed us not long since that the town had been fearfully dull.

Until the late election no Republican ever received a majority of the votes [illegible] of the Cascade [illegible], which goes to show that Judge Jacobs is a very popular gentleman.

John Frode is no more. You probably didn't know him. He lived out West, and as he entered a neighbor's smoke house one night to see how the hams were getting along a trap gun blew his head off.

The Salt Lake Tribune says: "Brigham, with his rheumatiz, cat-eater, and body guard of lick-spittles, landed in St. George on Wednesday afternoon. He is happy when he reflects that three hundred miles are between him and the Third District Court."

A number of carpenters have gone down to Utsalady, to engage in the refitting of the steamer Favorite. This boat has been secured by Mr. Moore, the new mail contractor, and will perform the service on the Tacoma and Victoria route from and after the 1st of January.

The Tacoma Tribune says: "Two or three boys, on Tuesday last, discovered three great salmon in the little brook [illegible] the residence of D. B. Hanna, which had been driven in there by the rough water of the outer harbor. The boys prevented their exit by stopping up the mouth of the brook, and then caught them by drawing them out of the water with a common garden hoe."

The three-year-old child of a family in the new town of Tacoma, who had just come out from the East, met with a shocking death on Wednesday, last week. The family live on the second floor, and the child fell from the platform at the head of an outside staircase to the ground below, a distance of twelve or fifteen feet, striking on a board [illegible] crushing its skull and causing instant death.

From the Boise Statesman of Nov. 17th: "A letter from Malad City, Oneida county, received here Sunday night says the returns are all in, the vote canvassed, and the [illegible] gives Governor Bennett 31 majority over Fenn. According to our count, this leaves Bennett 19 behind, with Lemhi county to hear from. Jonas W. Brown says a party came through to Idaho City from Loon Creek precinct, in Lemhi county, and says that precinct polled only 13 votes, Bennett getting 10 and Fenn 3, giving the Governor 10 majority in that place."

On Saturday last the new steamer at Port Gamble was to have been launched, and is now probably floating in the waters of her home port. She is 120 feet long, and is of about 300 tons burden. [illegible] She is also very staunch, is provided with excellent passenger accommodations, and is intended to be fast—a 12-mile an hour boat, with a [illegible] of 18. Her owners are the members of the Puget Sound Mill Company, and her [illegible] will be in and out of Port Gamble, to the Snohomish river country principally, and to the islands of the Sound, [illegible] and other places where the business of the Company may require her.

Judge McKean, of Utah, is not at all liked by the Mormons. Their paper, the Herald, published some atrocious articles against his character, and he went before the U. S. Commissioner, Toohy, and asked that the matter be inquired into, and that subpoenas be issued for the Herald men. After proving the falsity of the charges made by that paper, Judge McKean said to the Commissioner: "May it please your Honor: Two weeks ago it was proved before the grand jury, and published to the world, that the editors of the Salt Lake Herald are calumniators and liars. Having now proved again before your Honor that they are calumniators and liars, I withdraw the complaint."

BISHOP CUMMINS' SUCCESSOR.—The Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Kentucky, which will assemble in Louisville, Ky., to-day, will be for the purpose of electing an Assistant Bishop, to take the place vacated by the secession of Dr. Cummins.

Many names are spoken of in connection with this office, the most prominent of which are Bishop Tuttle, at present Bishop of Utah, who was consecrated to that See in 1867. He is a man of the most stating character. [illegible] Morris, of Oregon, has [illegible] also Bishop Pierce, of Arkansas, and Bishop Hare, who is the Apostle to the Indians. These are all missionary Bishops, and as it is canonical that they should be [illegible] from their missionary to self-supporting [illegible] their names in a certain sense stand first.—N. Y. Republic, Nov. 11th.

SILVER BULLION.—New York, Nov. 10.—The assay office received 3½ tons of silver bullion from the San Francisco [illegible] to-day, the largest amount ever received at one time. It will be coined into 50-cent pieces, and sent, it is supposed, to South America.

A MAIL DELAYED TWO YEARS.—New York, Nov. 10.—There was received yesterday, from Cologne, France, a mail which should have been forwarded October 15, 1872, since which time it has been unaccountably misplaced in French offices.

DEMOCRATIC DELUSION

The Democratic organs appear to be greatly delighted with the prospects of the next Presidential election They assume that their victory over the Republicans this fall assures a Bourbon triumph in the contest of 1876 for the Presidency But such an assumption is wholly illogical The people of the United States as we have said before are no more Democratic in sentiment to-day than they were in 1868 or 1872 Certain causes of dissatisfaction have grown up within the Republican party, and after much mild protesting with no appreciable effect they concluded at last to speak in such a manner as would not fail to be understood That they did by their votes at the fall elections It was a triumph of Republicans over Republican rings and corruption as much as Democracy, and if the Democracy are so unwise as to misinterpret it into evidence of a radical change of public opinion, they will be convinced at last into what a fatal delusion they have fallen Independent Republicans will, in case they have opportunity, no doubt support with great unanimity, a good and suitable candidate who refuses to be bound by the dictates of any party or to party discipline in matters of principle but should there be but two candidates, a Republican and a Democrat, both brought out by the ordinary party machinery, it is safe to calculate that independent Republicans will vote nearly solid for the Republican candidate And in that event it is about equally safe to calculate that the Republican candidate will be overwhelmingly elected

A CRUEL HOAX

In the New York Herald of Monday, November 9th, appears one of the most stupendous and outrageous practical jokes ever perpetrated It is in the shape of a narrative, six columns in length, purporting to describe an outbreak of wild animals in Central Park The situations are skillfully contrived, and all the details are horribly real in appearance At the head of the first column in large display type the following alarming headings appear 'Awful Calamity'' 'The Wild Animals Broken Loose from Central Park'' 'Terrible Scenes of Mutilation'' "A Shocking Sabbath Carnival of Death!" "Savage Brutes at Large'" "Awful Combats Between the Beasts and the Citizens'" The Killed and Wounded'" "General Duryea's Magnificent Police Tactics'' Proclamation by the Mayor'' 'Governor Dix shoots the Bengal Tiger in the Street!'' 'Consternation in the City'' Then follow six closely printed columns of vivid word painting introduced by this paragraph

—Another Sunday of horror has been added to those already memorable in our city annals The sad and appalling catastrophe of yesterday is a further illustration of the unforeseen perils to which large communities are exposed Writing even at a late hour, without full details of the terrors of the evening and night, and with a necessarily incomplete list of the killed and mutilated we may pause for a moment in the widespread sorrow to cast a hasty glance over what will be felt as a great calamity for many years * * * The unfortunate man to whose fatal imprudence all accounts attribute the outbreak of the wild animals of the menagerie, has answered with his life for his temerity but we have a list of calamities traceable from his act which one life seems inadequate to expiate We have a list of 49 killed of which only 27 bodies have been indentified and it is much to be feared that this large [illegible] will be increased with the return of daylight The list of mutilated trampled and injured in various ways must reach nearly 200 persons of all ages Twelve of the wild carnivorous beasts are still at large their lurking places not being known for a certainty

General Shaler is complimented for his alacrity in calling out the Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Sixty ninth regiments, and Mayor Havemeyer is commended for the courageous tone of his proclamation which is given in full and in which all citizens except members of the National Guard are enjoined to keep within their houses or residences until the wild animals, now at large, are captured or killed

The keeper thrusts his cane into the den of the rhinoceros, whereupon the enraged beast bursts from his cage with a tremendous lunge, tramples the unfortunate [illegible] a, backing down from the mangled body with a swiftness almost incredible, plunges his [illegible] horn into the dead man," etc, and breaks open other cages liberating the jaguar, the leopard, lions, tigers bears, and all manner of fierce beasts All of these enter with horrid cries into the work of death The writer pictures the "mutilated body of Annie Thomas an unfortunate sewing girl," the [illegible] of the African lion which seized four little children and mangled the delicate little things past all recognition ' "I saw,' he says, ' the dead bodies of Anderson and Hyland" (two of the park-keepers), the panther crouched over Hyland's body gnawing horribly at his head' The rhinoceros gored a horse at Ninetieth street," overthrowing the wagon and dislocating the shoulder of a milkman.

In this neighborhood he "overthrew a shanty which fell before him like a house of cards' The falling house took fire and "all the family escaped except a child which was burned to a crisp' The cougar sprang upon the shoulders of an aged lady burying his fangs in her neck The leopard "killed a little child and mutilated several women" The African lioness saturated herself in the blood of eighteen victims—men women and children Archbishop McCloskey's carriage drove upon the Bengal tiger only a moment after the bloodthirsty brute was laid low by 'a splendid shot from the rifle of Governor Dix. The scenes among the dead and dying at Bellevue Hospital are portrayed with frightful fidelity to particulars 'The handsome face of Rev George H Hepworth was seen bending over a moaning street Arab Bishop Potter, Rev Morgan Dix, and other eminent prelates "were seen moving among the [illegible], [illegible] to the souls of the suffering and dying 'One young girl died under the knife' Here follow the names of the killed & wounded a list of the slaughtered animals as well as of those at large. And the blood curdling tale of horror concludes with this paragraph

THE MORAL OF THE WHOLE

Of course the entire story given above is a pure fabrication Not one word of it is true. Not a single act or incident described has taken place. It is a huge hoax a wild romance or whatever other epithet of utter untrustworthiness [illegible] may choose to apply to it

This huge hoax, over which the cold-blooded writer rubbed his hands so gleefully, appeared in the Herald of Monday morning In many families it created the wildest alarm in some cases serious effects followed its reading Some indignant heads of families wrote in words of bitterest denunciation to the other morning papers One mother writes to the Tribune that she sent her nurse to Central Park with her two babes that Sunday afternoon while she went to a distant part of the city A Herald extra containing the fearful story fell under her eye She ran, trembling, to the nearest carriage and gave the driver all her money—$10—to take her home as quickly as possible And then she gives the author of the hoax a terrible going over This is the tenor of scores of letters to the daily press Of course none stopped to read the long story through 'An Indignant Father' writes to the Times

Is there any law that will reach the perpetrators of such an infamous outrage on the public as the canard in this morning's Herald? I write as a father and husband The distress occasioned in my house could not be paid for by ten thousand Heralds My children had started for school about ten minutes before we saw this monstrous joke A carriage was sent for at once to go after them my wife trembling lest they should be already killed

Another correspondent says

Allow me to tell the genius who concocted this fine scheme for frightening all those thousands who live out of town and who have friends there the effect his news (?) had upon at least one household To us it was as certainly cruel as if it had happened—more so as it was an unnecessary fright, which shocked us more than you can perhaps imagine. One of my kinsfolk has been made almost ill from the nervous terror the horrible story aroused Every face in the room was white when I reached the last paragraph and all felt sick at heart at the appalling tale

The public schools showed on Monday morning how the publication had affected the great city In many instances parents would not suffer their children to leave their homes It is hard to understand how a journal making any pretensions to decency and truthfulness could scatter such a pernicious lie among the peaceful homes of thousands It is altogether discreditable and disgraceful The Times in administering a sharp rebuke to the Herald, says

Such an incident was not altogether unlikely to happen for the animals in the Central Park are confined in the flimsiest cages ever seen and many a mother has cautioned her nurse not to take the children near the wild beasts The object chosen for the hoax was the tender feeling of parents for their children—a theme which cannot fail at any time to excite the laughter of every properly conducted young man To be sure there may be still some old fashioned persons left in the world who regard the love of a parent for a child as a sentiment too sacred for jest and who think perhaps not without sadness of the affection which followed them until they were deprived by death of the only true and unalterable friend a man or woman can ever have—a mother But ideas of this kind, though all very well half a century ago are altogether out of place among the humorists from which the Herald seems to draw its inspirations.

The Herald will have occasion to remember for many a day this atrocious attempt at a practical joke

Medill of the Chicago Tribune partakes of the prevailing prejudice against that eminently good man who moved from Gloucester recently Hear him

Gen Butler it is said is preparing a letter to the public explanatory of the causes of his defeat We can save him the trouble He was defeated because he was too good a friend of adventurers and knaves and too poor a friend of honest government He was defeated by Republican votes and we shall be glad to have him recognize this fact as he threatens to do by organizing another party in Massachusetts The sooner he gets out of the Republican party the better

The New York Times observes that Pennsylvania has just done an excellent thing in disregarding the bad old custom of making Friday the legal ' Hangman's Day Two criminals—O'Mara and Irvin convicted and sentenced to death for the murder of the mother and sister of O Mara for purposes of plunder—were executed at Montrose on Thursday Nov 13th The Times hopes that judges in other States will follow the example set by Pennsylvania and rescue Friday from the unjust odium put upon it by immemorial usage

The President, it is said has determined to take strong ground in his forthcoming message in favor of resumption of specie payments, and to urge upon Congress legislation looking to the accomplishment of that end at an early day He thinks that with proper legislation it will be possible to resume in 1876 We most earnestly wish the President unlimited success in the undertaking

Bismarck is paying some attention to the newspapers which have dabbled in the Von Arnim affair The Berlin correspondent of the London Standard telegraphs that he was obliged to submit to an examination, and that the authorities were looking for the New York Herald's commissioner but were unable to find him because he had shrewdly put himself into another country

A rumor having been put in circulation that the Western Union Telegraph Company proposes [illegible] in collecting dispatches and furnishing news generally thus destroying the Associated Press combination, Wm Orton President of the Company authoritatively denies the [illegible] He suggests that the Company has enough irons in the fire already

We [illegible] to the letter of Mr A J Dufur Centennial Commissioner and shall have something further to say about it at another time.

The wires were down all day yesterday and we are without our usual dispatches this morning

The official returns show that Wm Gaston's majority for Governor of Massachusetts is 6,656

[illegible] MORNING NOVEMBER 24 1874

CITY.

A DESERVED PROMOTION —The following, which we clip from the San Francisco Chronicle, will doubtless prove of interest to all who were in any manner identified with the late Modoc war: The appointment of Dr. Bernard Semig to the rank of Assistant Surgeon in the United States Army is an appropriate, though tardy recognition by the Government of his devotion to duty during the Modoc war. The Doctor held an appointment as Contract Surgeon and accompanied the troops through all the hardships of that long and trying campaign. On the 26th of April, 1873, he was with the reconnoitering party under Major Thomas, which was overwhelmed in a terrible ambuscade and which sustained the loss of all its officers and the greater part of the men. Dr Semig had dressed the wounds of two men and was attending to the third when a bullet struck him in the right arm, paralyzing the arm and causing in[illegible]. Another bullet struck his ankle [illegible] hours later. Together with the other wounded officers and men he remained on the field for forty hours, deprived of any aid [illegible]. His leg was subsequently amputated, and for many months it was feared that he would never recover from his terrible wounds. His friends interested themselves in trying to secure for him the promotion he had so nobly earned. The petition for his appointment as a regular medical officer, signed by every surviving officer of the Modoc war, was forwarded to Washington; but [illegible] staff influence which is so potent at the nation's Capital, defeated his promotion. Finally Governor Booth interested himself in the matter and wrote a strong letter to the President, setting forth the claims of [illegible] on the Government. This led to the appointment of a special Board of Examiners [illegible] for the purpose of inquiring into the professional qualifications of the Doctor [illegible] with credit, and his appointment [illegible] on Wednesday. He will be [illegible] stationed at the Presidio.

A SAMARITAN —One of Capt Brannan's [illegible] certainly deserves this appellation for the disinterested, but truly charitable [illegible] rendered by that young lady on [illegible] night. When Mrs Smelden the unfortunate mother, was removed to the jail, in[illegible] her child—a little bantling only a [illegible] old—was taken into the office, where the [illegible] fire was burning, and placed on [illegible]. The little fellow was snugly wrapped [illegible] and rendered as comfortable as [illegible] would permit. Along about [illegible] o'clock Miss Brannan learned of the circumstance, and as soon as her father came home importuned him to return to the jail and bring the child. Out of the kindness of his heart, Capt Brannan complied with his daughter's desires and soon came back with the unfortunate in his arms. The young lady at once [illegible] the wet clothing with which the infant's body was enveloped, and giving it a warm bath put some nice [illegible] on, and made the little creature [illegible] and at home. Yesterday morning [illegible] the [illegible] mother was discharged [illegible] kind admonition from the Judge, the [illegible] handed back to her arms as bright and [illegible] as a new dollar. For such [illegible] true benevolence the young lady [illegible] highest meed of [illegible]

A SEVERE FALL —Mr W. H Courtney, the well known brick and [illegible] mason, had a very [illegible] fall yesterday morning which may result [illegible]. He was employed by Mr John [illegible] in making some repairs to a chimney flue [illegible] Mr. O'Neil [illegible] to have [illegible] over (as it was not being [illegible]) [illegible] prevent the rain from entering. Mr [illegible] up on the wet roof, placed a [illegible] over the top of the flue, and [illegible] return to [illegible] up some brick with [illegible] hold it down. While descending his [illegible] and he rolled to the eaves and fell [illegible] a [illegible] of 18 feet. In fall[illegible] which was [illegible] the side of the house. This [illegible] the force of the fall, which might otherwise have [illegible] fatally. Courtney struck on the [illegible] of his back and was se[illegible] injured. He was picked up and con[illegible] in a carriage, and Dr Kinney [illegible]. The injuries were carefully ex[illegible] but as they were of an internal character, [illegible] full extent could not be determined [illegible].

[illegible] POLES —About three weeks [illegible] work of placing new telegraph poles [illegible] Miller and Shedd Stations, was com[illegible]. After considerable labor new poles [illegible] up between Miller's station and Al[illegible] four miles. Before the [illegible] for that distance the [illegible]. The ground became so [illegible] water [illegible] it was with the [illegible] the poles could be properly [illegible]. When the party [illegible] Albany, [illegible] transferred the wire from the old poles, the work was temporarily [illegible]. It is probable that the work of [illegible] new poles between Albany and [illegible] distance of eleven miles will be de[illegible] early next spring. The present decayed poles can be repaired and [illegible] so as to last through the storms of [illegible] winter.

[illegible] ENTERPRISE —Among the many new [illegible] that have lately sprung up in our [illegible] the manufacture of boots and shoes [illegible] ment of George L Hibbard [illegible] yesterday and found a dozen [illegible] actively engaged in making boots [illegible] do the principal work by [illegible] generally conceded to be the [illegible] of course, not the cheapest mode [illegible] work. Hibbard & Co claim to [illegible] work in this way. In a more satisfac[illegible]. Those who are judges of such [illegible] after by examining [illegible] with any local enterprise [illegible] firm have it in their [illegible] whom they have engaged [illegible]. It [illegible] careful attention in [illegible] all manner [illegible]. Call and see them.

[illegible] A slight collision occurred a few days since at the mouth of the Willamette, [illegible] the [illegible] Marie Wilkens [illegible] steamer was [illegible] in tow a vessel loaded with grain. The Marie Wilkens was coming up very heavily laden. She was so [illegible] was very tardy [illegible]. Observing the dif[illegible] the Shoo Fly gave the signal to stop, which was obeyed at once [illegible], the Wilkens was so slow [illegible] to her ropes, that she [illegible] the [illegible] vessel. The damage [illegible] slight, only a portion of [illegible] crushed by the collision [illegible] the Wilkens has undergone [illegible] and is [illegible] regular [illegible]

[illegible] —A few days ago a small [illegible] in [illegible] the boiler [illegible] from the [illegible] lying at the foot of Salmon [illegible]. The donkey was being transferred from a small skiff to the steamer. Being quite [illegible] one side it [illegible] the skiff to lurch and nearly capsize. Be[illegible] could be moved back to the mid[illegible], the men who were holding to it [illegible] it went overboard in an instant. [illegible] the engine sunk the water is about 40 [illegible]. Diligent efforts have been made to [illegible] the lost [illegible] by grappling and [illegible] but without success. The engine is [illegible] at about $230

[illegible] —Captain J R Wiley of [illegible] was unfortunate enough to [illegible] hand severely scalded on Sunday [illegible]. He was in the act of pouring a cup of cold water into a tin vessel which was [illegible] on the stove. The vessel was entirely dry, all the water having evaporated and very hot. Mr Wiley not being aware of this fact [illegible] a little careless, and held his hand near the bottom of the vessel. No sooner had the water touched the bottom than it was converted into scalding steam. Ere Mr Wiley could withdraw his hand the skin on nearly all the fingers was blistered. He is compelled to carry his hand in a sling in consequence of the [illegible] accident.

[illegible] DOWN.—On Sunday night the [illegible] south of Jacksonville was prostrate. The [illegible] Seattle and Victoria was also [illegible] the same time. The late heavy rain [illegible] the cause of the prostration of the lines.

[illegible] been summoned to try several cases now pending, and will be called this morning in the U S District Court: C W. Gay, Elias Newton, C H. Adams, L D C Latourette, A Montgomery, Peter S Noyer, J H McMillen, Horace L Dibble, Daniel Albright, Wm Whitlock, H S Buck, J C Moore, N H Robbins, J G Glenn, James Bernard, Wm H Butts, Lewis Love, R P Wills, W B Doublebower, Charles P Bunnell, Jonathan Wagner, John Glover, Wm Cornell, J W Murray

AN IMPROVEMENT —The new bridge across the gulch at the north end of North Thirteenth street opposite the North Portland steam mills has just been completed, and will prove a source of much convenience to those who have to travel over it, as it takes the place of an old rotten structure which has been considered dangerous to cross with teams at any time during a year past. The new bridge is very substantial, wider and better every way than the old one ever was.

STEAMER CALLIOPE —Since the sudden death of Capt Kingsley several months ago this little steamer has been lying idle at the foot of Salmon street. We understand that it is the intention of those owning an interest in the boat to run her on the Yamhill river as far as McMinnville when the stage of water will permit. The present rains will cause the desirable rise of that stream so that the Calliope will probably start in a short time.

WRIST BROKEN —Martin Snyder, a son of Mr A M Snyder met with a severe misfortune yesterday by having the bone of the right forearm broken. In some manner the lad slipped and fell and came down with all his weight on the right arm, fracturing the [illegible]. Dr Glaselin was summoned and set the limb.

GEN HOWARD'S LECTURE.—This evening at Museum Hall General O O Howard will deliver the fourth lecture of the course. His subject will be the Battle of Gettysburg. General Howard is ranked among the most popular lecturers of the country and we would advise every one to hear him this evening.

BEING TORN UP —Capt West, the owner of the little steamer Carrie, we understand is causing that boat to be torn up at Westport. His intention is to construct a new and larger [illegible], and use the boiler engine and machinery so long employed in driving the Carrie. The new boat is to be a side-wheel steamer.

TREASURE SHIPMENT —During the month of October the following amounts of treasure were shipped to San Francisco from Portland by Wells Fargo & Co's Express: Currency $6,451 90; gold coin $204 303 35; bullion 366 745

THANKSGIVING DINNER —On Thursday afternoon the ladies of the Taylor Street Church will set a regular old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner in the basement of the church. The public are invited to call.

PUBLIC THANKSGIVING — A union meeting composed of several congregations will be held on Thanksgiving Day at 11 o clock in the Baptist Church. The sermon will be delivered by the Rev R. Bentley

POLICE COURT NOTES.

Police Court matinee was unusually well attended yesterday morning, the anxious seat presenting an array of bloated and disfigured countenances, bleared and blood shot eyes, and disheveled locks, such as would [illegible] the heart of the most [illegible] philanthropist. The following [illegible] were disposed of by the court:

Henry [illegible] was called up but answered not. He was a[illegible] for drunkenness, and deposited a silver watch and chain for his appearance in court. Not answering to the call his bail was declared forfeited.

[illegible] an old "timer," was arraigned for drunkenness and disorderly conduct and fined $5. He had neither credit nor coin and was sent below.

Paddy Carroll, one of the deadest of dead beats, was committed to jail for 20 days on a charge of being drunk.

Two pugilistic [illegible]—John Corts and R. Sloter—for committing a mutual assault, were fined $5 each and, in default of payment, committed to jail.

Dougherty, for having no more shame and manhood than to get beastly intoxicated, was fined $10. It was the old story, "Haven't a dollar, yer Honor," and he goes below for five days.

Geo White another drunken and impecunious fellow, was committed to jail for three days.

For a shameless exposure of his person Charles Olsen was fined $15 and in default, committed for seven and a half days.

Jos Butler and Jas Thomas for being common drunkards, were committed to jail ten days.

Coleman Brown a confirmed hopeless inebriate was committed to jail for the space of fifteen days.

Jos Fleck for assault and battery was fined $5 and costs, which amounted to the neat sum of $23 90. He paid the debt and was discharged.

Walter Cole for assault and battery case was continued until this morning.

Mrs Smelden, charged with inebriety was dismissed with a reprimand from the Court and her infant restored to her.

MILITARY NOTES.

Capt. John A Kress, Ordnance Department is appointed to act as inspector on certain ordnance and [illegible] stores at Fort Vancouver W T, for which Second Lieut. Joseph W Duncan, 21st Infantry, commanding Company H is accountable reported the 16th instant as requiring the action of an inspector.

A general Court Martial will convene at the military post of Sitka, A T Tuesday Dec 1 1874, at 10 o'clock, A M or as soon thereafter as practicable for the trial of such prisoners as may be properly brought before it. The following officers have been detailed for Court duty: Major Joseph H Eaton, Paymaster; Cap[illegible] Edward Field, 4th Artillery; Captain Stephen P Jocelyn, 21st Infantry; First Lieut Edward P Newkirk, 4th Artillery; First Lieut. William R. Quinan 4th Artillery; Second Lieut Vinton A Goddard 4th Artillery; Captain J A Fitzgerald, Assistant Surgeon, Judge Advocate of the Court. No other officers than those named can be assembled without manifest injury to the service. The Court will sit without regard to hours.

THE COURTS.

U S CIRCUIT COURT—DEADY, J

MONDAY Nov 23 1874

Lloyd Brooke assignee vs John McCraken: defendant has until F[illegible]day next to file answer to amended complaint.

A I Bancroft et al vs Anna M Bancroft: by consent demurrer withdrawn and defendant has leave to file answer.

STATE CIRCUIT COURT—SHATTUCK J

Jacob Wheeler et al vs Margaret L Stephens: cause dismissed.

Maria Tice et al vs Thos Tice et al; cause on trial.

PAUSE WHILE YOU READ THIS! The season for parties and balls has arrived and the cold dreary days and nights of winter will soon visit us. Every young man, old man and boy, for that matter likes to present a neat appearance when attending parties, the theater, or walking about the streets. They likewise desire to be well provided against the cold blasts of snow and rain. What contributes more to the personal appearance and comfort of a gentleman or boy, than a nice closely fitting suit of clothes set off with a heavy warm overcoat? Why will any one be so foolish as to go without either when BECK & WALDMAN have everything in that line. Beck & Waldman in laying in their immense fall and winter stock of Clothing have exercised great care and selected with reference to the demands of trade. They have purchased their goods low and are determined not to be undersold. Let the public note this fact.

The great Frenchman Altaroche made specialties of irony and sarcasm in all his writings, but JOHN O NIEL & CO make specialties of selling the finest clothing, underwear, cravats, ties and hats at unparalleled low prices. For a winter suit theirs are of the best, so get yourself dressed and be at rest. This is not irony or sarcasm but stubborn fact as everybody will find out who goes to their store. Naked truth is good but people can't go about in that way and must have clothing and the supplies received by the firm are just what are wanted for the season.

LOCAL BREVITIES

'Camille' this evening.

Two balls on Wednesday evening.

The weather has greatly moderated.

Gen Howard will lecture this evening.

Mr Sawtelle's benefit to morrow evening.

There will be a tournament at the Skating Rink this evening.

Everybody is preparing to have a splendid dinner on Thursday.

Gas and oil are at a discount now—the moon supplies all deficiencies.

The Nicolson pavement is in a horrible condition on every street.

The consumption of gas and kerosene is great, the dark afternoons necessitating lighting up earlier than usual.

The Oregon City Turners trip the light fantastic on Wednesday evening. Several persons from this city will attend.

A large audience was present last evening at Museum Hall to listen to the lecture delivered there by Rev Louis Verhaag on the subject of Influence of Orders on Society.

In Monday's State Circuit Court proceedings we were made to say, "W P Doland vs W D Prettyman, judgment for plaintiff." It should have read "Judgment for defendant."

A man who [illegible] his wife and family will never tell a lie when any man asks him how he got that scar on his nose, but will explain how a stick of wood flew up, you know.

The latest telegraphic information from up the Columbia indicates a great moderation in temperature. No danger of the closing of the Upper Columbia by the cold weather from present indications.

AMUSEMENTS

THE THEATER —A fair audience was present last evening at Oro Fino Theater. "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl," a four act drama, was produced. In all respects the play was rendered in good style, Mr J Al Sawtelle and Mrs Fanny Morgan Phelps assuming the leading characters. This evening the great five-act play of "Camille" will be produced. Mrs Phelps personates the Coquette and Mr Sawtelle that of Armand Duval supported by the full company. To morrow evening Mr Sawtelle will be the recipient of a complimentary benefit. On that occasion at the request of many citizens the great play of "Rip Van Winkle" will be produced. In addition to the play Miss Louise Irving the accomplished mocking bird vocalist will make her first and only appearance and will sing the beautiful vocal waltz, La Primavera. There is now in active course of preparation by the company, J H Leroy's adaptions of the Crusaders and Gilded Age. On Friday evening the great French drama, "L Article 47" will be produced.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

John B Miller, the popular watchmaker and jeweler, has just returned from San Francisco with a splendid assortment of watches, clocks, jewelry, silver and plated ware, suitable for the coming holidays. Read his new advertisement.

Take a look at the Museum this evening while you are waiting for the lecture to begin.

The rainy weather should not deter you from calling on Beck & Waldman who are fully prepared to satisfy as to prices and the quality of goods. They have full stock of clothing, underwear and furnishing goods for gentlemen and youths.

It is an established fact that O Brien sells the best articles of cigars and tobacco. A trial is all that is necessary.

Chas A Malarkey of the New York Market is now selling Puget Sound fish at wholesale at 5 cents per pound.

Dr Steele's Medical Wonder has stood the test of time as the cure for rheumatic and other pains, as well as colds, coughs, cramps &c. Taken with Wonder Pills for liver complaints, kidney disorders and impure blood. For sale everywhere.

FASHIONABLE OUTFITS —Attention is again called to the extraordinary opportunities which are just now being afforded by the extensive clothing house of JOS KOHN, under the National Bank. There is no place in the State where a larger or finer assortment both for men, boys and children will be found. At all times the prices have been the lowest known to the market, but at the present time it will be found that they have been greatly reduced. Mr Kohn keeps constantly on hand a large and superior stock of furnishing goods and underwear.

TO THE LADIES OF PORTLAND.

MRS W N WALLACE has established a first class DRESSMAKING ESTABLISHMENT in one of the new and Elegant Rooms on Stark Street, between First and Second, at which place she would respectfully solicit your patronage.

A THOUSAND BANKRUPTCIES

Would not create as great a panic in commerce as the withdrawal of HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR from the market would create among the sick. The reason is obvious. Tens of thousands of both sexes would be bankrupted in health by such an event. The famous specific is effecting such cures in cases of chronic cough and cold, influenza, bronchitis, bleeding from the lungs and apparent consumption as have never heretofore been accomplished within the memory of man.

PIKE'S TOOTHACHE DROPS —Cure in one minute.

Coughs. —A Medicinal Preparation in the form of a lozenge is the most convenient. Brown's Bronchial Troches allay irritation which induces coughing, giving relief in Bronchitis, Hoarseness, influenza, Consumption and Asthmatic complaints.

A hypocrite is a most detestable character—If in morals he may only deceive himself, but when he experiments upon the lives of his fellowmen and hopes for advantage even to the injury of others he becomes pestiferous. There are certain abominable dregs thrown together which are claimed to be curative, a persistence in taking which will entail most unhappy results upon the sufferer. When to this is added hypocrisy, because they are claimed to be Temperance Drinks, and all for money, the outrage upon morals and humanity is complete. But the old-fashioned, well tried PLANTATION BITTERS have gone right on doing their work well for all.

Sore Throat —The first approach of this terrible disease should be well watched, remedies applied or else it will increase rapidly and do its deadly work suddenly. A few drops of the MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT applied by friction to the neck will remove the internal inflammation by external irritation. The disease is rebuked and the patient speedily recovers. Multitudes of lives have been saved by this embrocation.

Ugly persons pretend to despise the doll baby beauty (so they invariably call it) of a cheerful happy belle. If such ever had any beauty they had long ago separated from it by using vile unguents and compounds which disfigured their faces and they pretend to despise the great boon of personal beauty. Don't believe any woman who says she "would not be pretty." It is not natural. The multitudes who use HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM and retain their beauty contradict any such assertion.

Edward the Confessor! The predecessor of William of Normandy, who died in the same year that his country was subjugated, had been educated in Normandy. Upon his accession to the British throne he attempted to introduce Norman fashions —he succeeded in all but the curtailment of the people's hair—the Saxons wore long hair and the Normans kept theirs close cropped. The public bore every indignity but this, nor could he or his successor William make their subjects destroy their crown of glory. But there are many men and women too who neglect their hair and lose its beauty when they might retain it by the use of LYON'S KATHAIRON.

AUTUMN DAYS

The autumn warmth has left the sky
The summer [illegible] have died away
And withered in the footpaths lie
The fallen leaves—but yesterday
With ruby and with topaz gay

The grass is browning on the hill—
No pale belated flowers recall
The [illegible] fringes of the rills
And [illegible] the [illegible] vines fall
[illegible] blackened from the roadside wall

Yet through the gray and sumber wood
Against the dusk of fir and pine
Last of their floral sisterhood
The hazel's yellow blossoms shine—
[illegible]

[illegible] beauty hath my unsung flower
[illegible] spring its own or summer hall
[illegible] the season [illegible] sad lest hour
[illegible] that weep and winds that wail
Its glad surprisals never fail

O days grown cold O life grown old
[illegible] of June may bloom again
But like the hazel's twisted gold
Through early frosts and later rain
Shall hints of summer time remain

[illegible] within the hazel's bough
[illegible] mystic virtue dwell
That [illegible] to golden ores below
And in dry desert places tells
Where [illegible] unseen the cool sweet well

So in the wise diviner's hand
Be mine the hazel's grateful part
To feel beneath a thirsty land
The living waters thrill and start
The beating of the rivulet's heart

Sufficeth me the gift to light
With latest bloom the dark cold day
To call some hidden spring to sight
That in these dry and dusty ways
Shall sing its pleasant song of praise

O love the hazel wand may fail
But thou canst [illegible] a surer spell
That [illegible] over Baca's vale
Repeats the old time miracle
And makes the desert land a well

BEECHER'S BRINGING UP

HOW HE THINKS A CHILD SHOULD BE TRAINED

[From the New York World Nov 7]

The Plymouth lecture-room was crowded to its fullest capacity last evening Mr Beecher entered and took his seat upon the platform just as the clock marked the time for the meeting to begin and taking up the hymn book he announced the first hymn beginning

From every stormy wind that blows

After prayers from Brother Hill and the pastor Mr [illegible] his talk by saying

Without denying the indispensable necessity of fear as a moral instrument the question [illegible] that the work of the Gospel among men requires the efficient administration of fear For fear may be of many kinds It may be coarse and barbarous It may reach the lower forms of being, it may be solicitude only, it may be that kind of anxiety and care which the noble feelings possess There is no feeling so strong as that which goes with gratitude, where one is anxious lest he should not manifest gratitude where it is deserved. The spirit of honor is in part a spirit of fear every one of the higher feelings has its own color of fear so that if you deliver men from the bondage of inferior [illegible] not I [illegible] how that you set them free from all the influences of fear There is coarse fear moderate fear good fear low fear exalted fear I don't fear God as I fear the devil. It would be no credit to God or me either if I did, we keep one sort for one sort of blessings and another sort for another sort of blessings, and so when men say If you preach love meekness, ripeness of moral faculty, you preach a kind of weak moral goody and unless you [illegible] fear you never will do thorough work [illegible] I myself think I believe that sometimes it is very necessary that men should have—I am speaking after the manner of old fashioned practice—tartar emetic and calomel. I have seen in the Western country these drugs administered with very immediate consequences, but suppose the practitioner coming in and saying I was down on a flatboat here, and saw one of [illegible] have him five [illegible] of calomel and five grains of tartar emetic, should he prescribe the same for a weak nerved girl or child and say It would do on a flatboat and it ought to do any where I don't doubt that fear has done good in some [illegible] but it is [illegible] to those low down it does not follow that it will do good to those who are exalted If men are growing better this ought to be one of the results of [illegible] growth—[illegible] relinquishment of apprehension growth of trust, of learning faith, of confidence, of hope that maketh not ashamed These are the fruits of the spirit I look in vain in the catalogue of any fruits of the spirit that are sour They are all sweet Joy, peace hope love faith and all of these are in their nature sweet and growth in grace ought to be in that direction

Mr Beecher continued at some length in this vein and when he had concluded a brother asked if it was not necessary sometimes, to use terror to persuade a man

Mr Beecher—Yes if there is no other way of persuading him I would wrap him in terror, I don't believe in corporal punishment especially for adults but if a man came to me that had swallowed an ounce of laudanum I think I would thrash him I would have that man walked up and down I can tell you but I would not have it understood that I would treat everybody that way [Laughter]

A sister who was present disputed the correctness of Mr Beecher's theory She said I was brought up in the strictest fear of God I think I should have gone on worse than I have if it had not been for fear I never got to that point when I was satisfied with myself

Mr Beecher—"I hope you never will [Laughter] My father had thirteen children Ten of them grew up to manhood He had not time to apply moral suasion it was handier to apply a cuff here and there and as I look back, I think I was governed by fear

The Sister—"Don't you think you were the better for it?"

Mr Beecher—No I think if they had put their arms around my neck it would have done me much more good than slapping me as they used to"

The Sister—"Well I never had that"

Mr Beecher—I think it would do you a good deal of good [Laughter] But my father had not the time There was too many of us and he brought us up the best way he could [illegible]

The Sister—I think he brought up a pretty good specimen—[great laughter and applause] —but taking the world as it is full of all perjury and wickedness wouldn't a thorough knowledge of the law as given on Sinai be of benefit? Let them have the terrors of the whole moral law taught to them in childhood and then put the love of Christ over against it afterwards Would not the world be better?

Mr Beecher—Well no I don't know why you should teach as you put up plates, one on top of the other why you should first teach the law and then afterward teach love as they color cloth putting one color over another [illegible]

The Sister—Well they got the color better for it" [Laughter]

Mr Beecher—Yes but is that the way a mother teaches the family, is it the way any family ever came up?

A brother said "When you received chastisement did you have the same affection for your parent as before he struck you?

Mr Beecher—When my father punished me and I knew I deserved it I used to think better of him than before, but when I was punished as I thought, unjustly—when I got a cuff on the ear, or a thump with a thimble on the head (and it is an abominable practice) I didn't swear, but I thought swear My mother has exploded more oaths inside of me than I can count I do think it is the wickedest thing in the world to thump a child on the head with a thimble"

After some further conversation Mr Beecher said "I think we have had enough and now we'll sing—

Not to the terrors of the Lord
The tempest fire and smoke
Not to the thunder of that word
Which God on Sinai spoke"

Latest Liverpool advices denote [illegible] market. Pacific coast wheat ranged from [illegible] for average and [illegible] for club [illegible] The London market [illegible] quarter for average quality [illegible] for average [illegible]

Monday always [illegible] duller in financial circles than other week days has not varied the rule to day and furnishes but little subject matter for comment either in the line of finance or trade

The local money market continues to work closely though regular customers at the banks are freely accommodated while outside parties are sometimes refused all credit on good paper This discrimination is rendered necessary by the present and prospective demands of the grain movement which finds employment for a great portion of the surplus available funds on the market But aside from this demand there seems to be no very extended inquiry general traders as a rule lacking in means to sustain themselves while local and State improvements and enterprises are not active at this season of the year

The wholesale and jobbing trade to-day is quite as good as could be expected for the time in the week and the excessively bad weather which to a greater or less extent keeps buyers out of the market Dry goods of a seasonable character are being shipped to the interior merchants in fair quantities and prices are steady Groceries are quite active and some large orders are coming in though these are not the rule the replenishing of depleted stocks and the introduction of a few new features being the usual object of most country merchants at this season Prices for most leading articles in the grocery line are firm

The Wheat Market,

As to prices is undisturbed by a single ripple The arrangements by which the Grangers have secured through Messrs Rodgers Meyer & Co the bark Privateer to be loaded by the farmers show that they are not disposed to give up the plan of exporting their wheat on their own account and we trust the arrangements will result prosperously The vessel chartered is a fine large bark and will carry about 1,000 bushels of wheat The same firm is loading the bark Nenuphar and will begin in a few days to load the ship Zelica on their own account Mr Natorp informs us that the firm has already secured the cargoes of these vessels which will have quick dispatch Messrs Henry Hewett & Co are rapidly filling up the Roslin Castle and have the Globe on the berth ready to load and the Valparaiso and Gloria awaiting room at the dock The Salem Mill Co are loading the Elmari on this side and the James Wishart on the east side of the river Messrs Corbitt & Macleay have the cargo of the Dunstaffnage in sight and but a few days will elapse before she is filled The receipts of grain to supply these several vessels must of course be large and we note the fact that the amount stored here is considerably less than it was one week ago notwithstanding the large amount daily coming to hand both by rail and river There have been no Liverpool telegrams to day as far as we could hear, no change in prices having been noted since Wednesday of last week at which time that market was quiet but steady

It is not now anticipated that any further interruption to navigation of the Upper Willamette will occur, and the supposition is entertained that at least a large part of the great amount of grain in store on that line of transportation will be put on the market, and that all the vessels to arrive soon will be able to secure convenient dispatch

Freights and Charters

There are now no disengaged vessels in this port with perhaps one exception nor but one other in the river The Middlesex is at Astoria awaiting orders from her owners. The British bark Privateer has been chartered and will be loaded by the Oregon State Grange through their agents Messrs Rodgers Meyer & Co She goes with wheat to Liverpool direct at £2 5s od per ton carrying 1,500 English or long tons Messrs McCraken & Co have also about concluded a charter with the agents of the owners of the City Camp on terms reserved and will load that vessel with grain for Europe There seems to be a fair degree of activity in the tonnage market and vessels at hand procure charters readily at current rates

The Prospect in California

Mr W B Daniels formerly of Vancouver writing from interior California to the Leader says of the wheat crops and markets in that section

There has been considerable rain here already this season and the farmers say though there is no more this year a good crop is certain Crops seldom fail in this section

Owing to the fact that the bulk of this year's crop has not been marketed, money is scarce and trade and business of all kinds are dull. The crops were heavy but on the whole the year has not been a prosperous one The interest of the money locked up in the granaries and stored in the warehouses in the form of wheat together with the loss consequent upon keeping over and the uncertainty of the market of '75 all combines to make the farmer feel poor They look for a scarcity in foreign markets and some of them even hope for a war in Europe to have a salutary influence on the wheat market

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Oriflamme, from San Francisco will be due here to morrow (Tuesday) evening.

The bark Gazelle under consignment to Rogers Meyer & Co sailed from Liverpool for Portland direct November 11th

The bark Roslin Castle has now about 250 tons of her cargo aboard and goes to the east side this evening to complete loading. Messrs Hewett & Co will dispatch her in a few days

The British ship Zelica will begin to discharge ballast, of which she has 300 tons on board to morrow She will be ready to load by the close of the present week

The barks Mattie Macleay and the Jane A Falkinburg are completing their cargoes for Honolulu at some point down the river

The Nenuphar Walker master is receiving grain at Flanders' wharf and will drop down the river on Thursday

The bark Dunstaffnage under charter to Messrs Corbitt & Macleay will begin to load grain in a few days and will have quick dispatch.

The British bark North Star Bangs master arrived at Montevideo September 27th on her way from Havre to this port via Valparaiso

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues—Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral It has been known to the public about forty years by a long continued series of marvellous cures that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs Colds Consumption that can be made by medical skill Indeed the Cherry Pectoral has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effect that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members Sickness suffering and even life is saved by this timely protection The prudent should not neglect it and the wise will not Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attack

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY & COLOR

Advancing years sickness care disappointment and hereditary predisposition all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely

Ayer's Hair Vigor by long and extensive use has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately often renews the growth and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity and preserves both the hair and its beauty Thus brashy weak or sickly hair becomes glossy pliable and strengthened lost hair regrows with lively expression falling hair is checked and established thin hair thickens and faded or gray hair resume their original color Its operation is sure and harmless It cures dandruff heals all humors and keeps the scalp cool clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible

As a dressing for ladies hair the Vigor is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts
